

Seniors receive lotteries grant

Elk Point Pioneer Circle Seniors are looking forward to continued development of their Recreation Centre, thanks to an $8000 grant presented last week by MLA Ed Stelmach of the Vegreville constituency on behalf of Premier Ralph Klein, the Hon. Ken Kowalski, Minister Responsible for Lotteries and the Hon. Gary Mar, Minister Responsible for Seniors.

Stelmach said that the grant comes from lottery funds, and "as long as people keep on gambling... we will keep on investing the money back into the communities." He feels that contributing the funds to community development of this sort shows those who play bingo and buy lottery tickets that their money is going toward a worthwhile cause.

The grant was a result of contacts made with Stelmach by Sid Holthe when the MLA was in town to present the grant for the Rescue Van. "Sid is like a bloodhound - he sniffed me out and brought the matter to my attention," Stelmach said, adding that he was glad to hear of the Seniors' future plans to enhance community living. He felt it was commendable that the Seniors share their building with other community groups, and said the facility shows innovative planning to maximize the use of the structure to the best advantage. "Other seniors groups would get many ideas if they toured your building," he told the lunch hour assembly of members.

Pioneer Circle President Lillian Palinka, who accepted the cheque and in turn, presented Stelmach with a Pioneer Circle plate, said "we must thank Sid for this grant. He has always done a lot of work for us, including the grant applications." Holthe added his thanks to Stelmach, without whom "we wouldn't have had this cheque."

PRESIDENT LILLIAN PALINKA - accepted an $8000 grant for the Seniors Recreation Centre from MLA Ed Stelmach.

IT'S A BOY! The stork found his way into Elk Point through last Wednesday's snowstorm to deliver a bouncing baby boy to Monica Cardinal. Evan Adrian Faithful made his appearance at 12:47 p.m. on January 12, weighing 6 lbs. 4 oz. Marie Buck (left) of the Elk Point OORP visited mom and baby with a hamper of gifts, while Susan MacKinnon (right) presented a sleeper and engraved silver mug on behalf of the Hospital Auxiliary. Nurse Debbie Hahn added her congratulations.

Friends much appreciated

Alberta Historic Sites and Fort George - Buckingham House Interpretive Centre are proud of their volunteers, and took the opportunity last week to tell them so.

Eighteen of the more than thirty individuals, groups and businesses whose strong volunteering spirit has helped the site in the past year were on hand to be presented with pins and certificates of appreciation.

Supervisor of Visitor Services Louise Crane said the Friends of the Fort and other volunteers "did a great job" at everything from operating the gift shop to leading tour groups to helping with the ground marking workshop. The latter event was so successful it was featured in the latest Alberta Past magazine, and has interested volunteers at four other sites in doing a similar project.

This year's volunteers include Pat Johnson, Dorothy and Vic Malinowski, Carol Hellquist, Debra Kilby, Sharon Kuhn, Diane Babcock, Mabel Dumont, Erna Holliday, Sheila Thompson, Jim and Amy Hawkins, Heidi Kozicky, Jeanne May, Frank and Doreen Mayner, Billie Milholland, Sherry and Jordan Pelech, Marjorie Robinson, Roy Scott, Elsie and Clarence Tilley and their grandson, Rusty Williams, Margaret Young, Peggy Zarska and Vicki Brooker, as well as the Elk Point Boy Scouts, who provided the color party for Fall Rendezvous, and Phil's Hardware, Vincent Building Supplies and Shamrock Valley Enterprises, who donated materials and / or time toward the site marking workshop. Ms Crane noted that Pat Johnson has contributed a substantial amount of volunteer time - nearly 500 hours in under two years - to the site, and will receive special recognition for this.

Milholland heads friends

Billie Milholland, coordinator of 1992's very successful Bicentennial celebrations in Elk Point, was elected by acclamation to fill the role of President of Friends of Fort George Buckingham House

Society at last Tuesday's Annual General Meeting. Debra Kilby will serve a second term as Secretary for the Friends, while Louis Verhagen is the new Treasurer. Peggy Zarska is Membership Chairperson.

Outgoing President Sheila Thompson congratulated the Friends on a very successful first year, in which they undertook a number of projects, including the Fur Trappers Ball, Hudson's Bay Blanket Raffle, creation of two flags, operation of the Gift Shop, publication of newsletters, incorporation as a society and the marking of building and palisade locations at the Fort George site.

The possibility of further development of the site took a step toward becoming a reality, when the Friends voted to submit a Northern Alberta Agreement grant application. The funds from the grant would be used to upgrade and extend trails, install ground markings at Buckingham House, create and install interpretive signage, publish a site brochure, and to build remote washrooms and a viewing platform.

The application was debated thoroughly, as some felt that the work could be done largely through volunteer efforts. However, Frank Mayner explained that volunteer labor could still be used whenever possible to maximize the impact of the grant, which would allow for purchase of materials for these projects. He emphasized that the Friends would have control over the spending, so money could be spent locally and local workers hired when necessary. Supervisor of Visitor Services at the site, Louise Crane, noted that all the projects had been identified by visitors as needed amenities.

Sheila Thompson had good news about the abandoned railway right of way between Elk Point and Heinsburg. This has recently been purchased by the County of St. Paul, and will eventually be leveled and have trestles and culverts installed. The right of way will be used as a training track during National Physical Fitness Week when former Olympian Bruce McKay conducts a running clinic at the Forts. Roy Scott added that the trail will be closed to all motorized traffic except off road vehicles.

Billie Milholland introduced a new fundraising project she hopes to undertake for the Friends, the creation of a book for elementary school aged children on the topic of bushcraft and basic outdoors survival, with how-to exercises which can be done in one's own backyard, as well as information on things to do in the woods. She plans to find sponsorship for production and printing of the volume, and has contacted Captain

Don Carver, a survival instructor at Cold Lake Canadian Forces Base, for technical assistance.

What's Happening at Community Services

Looking into the future

Personal comfort becomes more important as people age. Eliminating hassles and avoiding problems becomes a priority. Older people are less concerned than others about peer groups and looking good, but they are more concerned about feeling good. As people retire, they still want to feel useful and part of society. Marketers who position products and services to offer opportunities for personal growth and independence will prosper.

Between the ages of 40 and 60, people's primary source of enjoyment shifts from possessions to "catered experiences" such as going to restaurants and sporting events, attending art shows and travelling. For people aged 60 to 80 the focus shifts toward "being experiences" such as relationships and a sense of interconnectedness with life. People in the oldest age group have a keen appreciation for the simpler things in life such as taking a walk, watching a sunset or having a friendly conversation.

DID YOU KNOW...

Did you know...
- 13 percent of families raising children are married couple families where one or both of the spouses have been previously married.

- 28 percent of remarried Albertans have raised a stepchild. This adds up to 50,000 adults.

- About 15.5 percent of Albertans in common-law relationships, 9 percent of divorced Albertans, and 10 percent of separated Albertans have raised stepchildren.

- 8.5 percent of Albertans aged 30 - 40 have raised stepchildren. This is more than double the percentage of seniors who have.

Forget the magic wand. What it takes to create a strong stepfamily is time and attention. Join us on January 26 for practical information on stress and coping skills involved in single parent and "blended" family situations.

Our Past

By Steve Andrishak

Eagle cliff

An interesting geological area seldom visited any more is Eagle Cliff. This unique formation of high cliffs, crevices and sliding shale is located along the north bank of our nearby North Saskatchewan River, about 5 miles south east of Elk Point. Here you can view the wandering river from the height of about 300 feet, or photograph the many interesting scenes visible from this high location.

At one time, Eagle Cliff was the site of many attractions. When I first visited it well over 60 years ago the upper part of it was the home of thousands of garter snakes. During each fall these harmless reptiles returned to this area and spent the winter there, balled up in huge masses in the many crevices of the upper parts of the cliffs. In the spring when it warmed up, they remained in their snake pits sunning themselves for many days before starting their annual spring migration. During this period many people visited these snake pits, others who feared snakes made a point of not going near the place.

The lower portion of Eagle Cliff had two or three very steep cliffs which had a heavy coating of shale on them which was constantly shifting toward the river shore. This area was a geologist's paradise. Here you could find fossils of every description, all considered to be many thousands of years old. There were many varieties of clam shell fossils as well as other fossils which had a mother-of-pearl covering and were scientifically known as ammonites. Other shells were imbedded in large rocks which could only be chipped out with a chisel. There were other remains of prehistoric life as well, on the cliffs and the river shore.

During the middle 1930s many of us spent countless hours climbing these cliffs searching for fossils whenever they became exposed after the shale shifted toward the bottom of the cliffs.

At one time, Eagle Cliff was easily accessible, however it is now quite heavily wooded and in order to get there you have to walk about a mile. It can be reached from the Fort George - Buckingham House Interpretive Centre site which is located approximately a mile to the east. Another way it can be reached is by floating down the river. This method eliminates the strenuous descent of the cliffs.

During spring runoff, a roaring creek flows from the extreme top portion to the river below. The surrounding areas is the home of many kinds of animals, such as deer, porcupines, beaver, coyotes and rabbits. It is also the nesting place of many species of birds. At one time, eagles nested in the cliffs and presumably that is how Eagle Cliff got its name.

Eagle Cliff is an extremely rough area and to explore it, one must use caution to avoid an unforeseen accident.

I have often thought of revisiting this place, however I now realize my legs could never stand the punishment, so I will just have to rely on my past memories of this interesting formation and leave it at that.

The surrounding river scenes of Eagle Cliff are magnificent during the summer and are ideal for photography. A large wooded island lies in the middle of the river and adds to the beauty of the surrounding area. Eagle Cliff is one of our beauty spots, and it is unfortunate so many people are unable to visit it because of its inaccessibility.

Eagle Cliff is no longer the winter home of the garter snake. Someone, for some unknown reason, dynamited the snake pits killing thousands of snakes, many years ago, and they no longer return to this location. Apparently they now gather along the river banks to the east of our salt plant.

Years ago, Eagle Cliff was a popular spot to visit, however, today, very few people ever go near the place - in fact, many people who have lived in this area most of their lives are unaware that such a place even exists.

We can make a difference

Ruth Richardson

North Eastern Alberta Health Unit

and other associated health care costs.

This year, National Non-Smoking Week is January 17 to 23, 1994. The grade six students are being invited to develop messages for airing on radio and television about how they can make a difference about smoking. However, the ability to make a difference is not confined to grade six students only.

We all have different experiences in our lives and what we do can have an impact on those around us and our environment. With regard to smoking and health, we know that tobacco use has a definite impact on our health: directly by smoking and indirectly through second-hand smoke. The financial costs of smoking are well known, on our personal pocketbook or secondarily through fires, accidents

If we believe strongly in reducing the increasing use of tobacco among our children, we can reduce the impact smoking has on the health care system; WE CAN MAKE A DIFFERENCE.

What can we do? We can start by being smoke-free; supporting smoke-free spaces; encouraging businesses to provide smoke-free areas; supporting businesses who do not sell tobacco products to minors; and by providing support for those who are in the process of quitting smoking or reducing their tobacco consumption.

If we expose our children to a smoke-free environment that is accepted as normal, then perhaps they will never smoke. WE CAN HELP MAKE THE DIFFERENCE.

The family forum

Jim MacLellan

What is a family? I look at my own life. I came from a "natural / traditional" family. I am divorced, thus a partner in a "dysfunctional" family. For some years I was a "single-parent" family; and now I am part of a "blended" family. One of my daughters is adopted, thus, an "adoptive" family. I have every right to ask, "What am I?" You may feel the same way. In addition to this confusion, we speak of "extended families," "common-law families," "same-sex parent families" and I suppose the list goes on! We're living in a time of family identity crisis.

Webster agrees with the classical definition of a family as it is defined as "a group consisting of parents, and their children" - the children of two parents. Webster would agree with Ralph Linton (The Natural History of the Family - 1951) who says, "The ancient trinity of father, mother and child has survived more vicissitudes than any other human relationship... the last man will spend his last hours searching for wife and child." The Judeo / Christian ethic would probably add to such a definition that a family is composed of "married parents and their offspring."

If we have difficulty defining a family, it might help to understand at least what a family looks like. I am following that ancient philosophical model that says, "If it acts like a duck, sounds like a duck, and looks like a duck - it's probably a duck." By extension, it seems to me that naturally, a family consists of three main elements: One, is two people committed to the permanence of the relationship; Secondly, the goal of the family is procreation and continuation of family (Continued on Page 5)

What's News at the Library

1994 memberships now available

Michele Duczek
Librarian

Well, it has been just over a week and I'm still here. I want to thank everyone who helped me find my way around the library and everyone who came in and talked to me, especially Juanita for reading at my very first storytime, Donna for knowing how to do things and Lena for introducing me to almost everyone who came in.

The first news is that we are now accepting registration for 1994. Many of you came in last week and wanted to pay and were told to wait. The wait is over, folks. The fees for 1994 are:

Family - $15
Individual (age 15 - 59) - $10
Child (14 and under) - $5
Senior (60 and over) - $5

For County residents there is an additional Northern Lights Library System fee which raises the total to:

Family - $45
Individual - $20
Child - $12.50
Senior - $12.50

What you get when you register for 1994 is a brand new card. These cards are the forerunner of the automated system Elk Point will be installing in the near future. The cards are plastic and are printed with the name and address of the library. Congratulations to Phyllis Scott for being the first person to receive one of the new cards.

In other news, the Annual General Meeting of the Elk Point Public Library is on January 25, 1994 at 6:00 p.m. at the library. Everyone is welcome.

It may be just a horrible coincidence, but the weather has been just a little chilly since I got here. (Blame me for the snow and cold.) With the extreme cold and the almost daily snowstorm, one's thoughts naturally turn to gardening. January is the perfect time to start planning for the gardening season. I got my first seed catalogue last week. I immediately began dreaming of masses of colorful blooms, the feel of dirt under my fingernails, the smell of compost. Too bad I live in an apartment.

Here at the library we have several books on gardening you might want to check out. Cold Climate Gardening by Lewis Hill may be a good starting point. It is a basic handbook which includes the types of plants best suited for our climate, landscaping, and extending the growing season.

Prairie Garden Notebook by Cecil and Jeanette Stushnoff contains tips and instructions geared toward the prairie climate. A refreshing change from all those books that are written by Ontario or midwestern gardeners.

The Harrowsmith Northern Gardener by Jennifer Bennett is a well written book that guides you through all the stages, from when the seed catalogues arrive until the garden is put to bed for the winter. It answers not only how and when to do things, but why.

In Northern Gardens, Brian Andrews brings forty years experience as a gardener and twenty-five years as the garden columnist for the Edmonton Journal to a work well-suited for the Alberta gardener. Though lacking photographs, this book is a handy reference.

Of course we must not forget Reader's Digest Illustrated Guide to Gardening in Canada. Full of illustrations (some of them in color), this book shows you how to do everything from improving soil quality to how to plant a tree. All sorts of plants are described along with the appropriate climate for each plant and care guidelines.

Other books on gardening are also available at the library, and if we do not have a particular title we can try to get it for you through interlibrary loan. Come on in and see us.

NLLS receives two grants

The Northern Lights Library System is extremely pleased to be able to announce the receipt of two grants from the Alberta Foundation for the Arts totalling $2548. Each year, the Foundation invites applications from Alberta public libraries for grants for capital equipment, developing library collections and marketing. Northern Lights has been awarded grants in the Capital Equipment and Marketing categories.

The System has received a $2000 grant to develop an information packet for newcomers to our member communities. The packets will include a Northern Lights membership card as well as information about the local library and the services it provides.

The System also has been awarded a $548 grant toward the purchase and installation of a Fax / Modem at System headquarters. Northern Lights expects the fax / modem to enhance its ability to communicate with member libraries and enable the System to take advantage of lower off-peak long distance telephone rates on fax transmissions.

deals, goals and values; and Finally (and logically) if procreation is the obvious goal, then these "two committed people" must be male and female.

What's my point? If these three elements are not part of the "family"... it's probably not a family. What do you think?

Who passed away
January 18, 1990

Things may change from year to year

But as time slips by memories still stay

The thoughts we have, we hold so dear

As we quietly remember you each passing day.

Ever remembered by Debbie, Lindsay, Kelly and the Orr Families.

Thank You

Many thanks for the concern shown through prayers, cards, flowers, fruit baskets, visits and phone calls while in the hospital and at home. Each one certainly brightened my day. May God bless you all.

Thunder storms over Neilburg

Ron Dunlop
Elk Point Thunder

The Thunder Midgets split a pair of games on the weekend, which leaves them tied for second place with St. Walburg and 2 points behind first place Kitscoty.

On Friday night Neilburg was in town and the locals did not roll out the welcome mat for them. It was 12-0 for Thunder before Neilburg scored their first and only goal with 35 seconds left in the second period. In the third period Neilburg asked to play straight time because of the storm and one of the penalty box attendants quickly commented, "Yes, there's a terrible Thunder storm out there."

Irwin Easthope led the way in scoring with 3 goals and 2 assists, Jeff Dunlop netted a pair and 3 assists, Cody Lawrence, 2 goals and 2 assists, Jacques deMoissac 2 goals and 1 assist, Robyn Moroziuk 1 goal and 2 assists, James Makowecki 1 goal and 2 assists, Travis Pankiw 1 goal and 1 assist, Richard Pankiw 1 goal and 1 assist, Grant Dunlop 1 goal, Travis Stafford and Monty Kenyon each got a pair of assists, while single assists came from Ricky Robinson and Jason Morris.

On Saturday night, it was a battle between the two first place teams as Thunder travelled to Kitscoty to play the Pitbulls. Cody Lawrence opened the scoring for Elk Point at the 13:05 mark of the first with Jeff Dunlop getting the lone assist. Richard Piotrowski made it 2-0 nine seconds later with Jeff Dunlop and Cody Lawrence drawing the assists. Thunder went to the dressing room with a 2-0 lead but came out flat in the second. Kitscoty scored three goals in the second to make it 3-2 for Kitscoty after two. In the third, Kitscoty got a quick power play goal at 1:11 but Thunder replied 15 seconds later on a goal by Jeff Dunlop, set up by Cody Lawrence, and Jacques deMoissac set up Irwin Easthope to tie it with 7 minutes left. The Pitbulls went ahead with 4 minutes left and hung on to win 5-4. It was a hard fought battle and it was evident why these two teams are neck and neck for first place.

Don't forget that advance tickets for the Oilers Alumni vs Bucs Alumni hockey game on Saturday, February 12 are available at Cuts Plus, Woody's Trophy and Gift Shop, Community Services and at the Arena. The opening ceremonies are at 5:35 p.m. Minor Hockey will be having the draw for the trip to Mexico that evening. Thunder will be holding the draw for the $100 bill, should no one win it at their last home game, and $200 will be up for grabs in the "Shoot To Win" contest between the second and third periods. Other draws will be held during the game, with prizes including an autographed stick from the current Oilers team.

Two wins for Elks

Elk Point Elks held on to their Sask-Alta Hockey League lead with two wins over the weekend, journeying to Marwayne Friday night for a 11-1 wipeout of the Comets, and defeating Paradise Valley Jets in an 8-7 squeaker Sunday in Elk Point.

Elks 11 - Comets 1

Three goals by Dwayne Karbashewski, two goals and three assists by Blair Halfe and a goal and five assists by Sheldon Cardinal highlighted Friday's win over Marwayne Comets. Cory Laboucane added two more goals and one assist to the list, while Jon Olson, Greg Desaulniers and Layne Gauchier contributed one apiece. Gauchier had three assists, while Allan Loughran, Terry Wozniak, Jeff Buck, Curtis Porcina, Murray Scoggins, Jon Olson, Greg Desaulniers and Kerry Loughran provided single assists.

The Elks totally dominated the game, scoring three goals in the first period against one, by Kevin Holzinger off assists by Dale Milne and Tom Burke, for the Comets. The visitors scored five more in the second period and three in the third as they contributed to Marwayne's thirteenth loss of the season.

Elks 8 - Jets 7

Sunday's game started off on much the same note as Friday's, with the Elks making their first goal a minute and six seconds into the game, and adding two more later in the first period, offset by one power play goal by Paradise Valley. The Elks scored two more in the second to take a comfortable 5-1 lead.

The final period was a whole different scene, however, as the visiting Jets showed the prowess that has three of their players leading the league in scoring. Two Jets goals in forty seconds started off the period, with the Elks regaining their four goal lead midway through the period with a pair of goals. Steady efforts by the Jets, who pounded in four goals in seven minutes, tied the game with 2:59 to go. Elks fans gave a sigh of relief 43 seconds later when Dwayne Karbashewski scored the winning goal off assists by Kelly Harms and Jon Olson.

Murray Scoggins, back with the Elks after last year's coaching stint in St. Paul, scored two goals in Sunday's game. Blair Halfe added two more, with Kelly Harms, Jon Olson and Layne Gauchier each scoring singles. Gauchier, Karbashewski, Clayton Holthe, Greg Desaulniers, Sheldon Cardinal and Cory Laboucane provided assists.

The league's three top scorers racked up four goals and five assists for the Jets, with Dale Sunderland's hat trick, a goal and five assists by Dean Davidson and one assist by Glen Sunderland. Kelly Clark added two goals and three assists, with Greg King adding the seventh goal. Scott Abel added two assists, with one each coming from Kevin Read and goalie Tiny Adams.

More great hockey action is coming up at the A.G. Ross Arena this week. The Elks will host Bonnyville Pontiacs tomorrow night, while Friday, they play host to Dewberry Mustangs.

Saddle Slickers

Ashley Larson
Club Reporter

The 4-H Saddle Slickers of Elk Point held their meeting at the Poulins' residence. We had a report about colors of horses by Diane Babcock. We heard about some upcoming events like Public Speaking and judging classes. We all got our 4-H books and we also got our membership cards.

We watched a video called 'Riding With Awareness' with Linda Tellington Jones. Then we ended our meeting with a snack.

Our next meeting will be held at the Poulins' residence again. We will have a report by Tom Bayduza and one by Ashley Larson. We will also practice our Public Speaking.
